The record of the re

winner, L. J. Hunt, rode a squadron horse, a little iron gray English thoroughbred. A. Lannon, the second man, rode Lieut. R. C. Iswrence's horse.

The tent drill furnished a splendidly close competition between Troops One and Three. Troop One was first under the tent, but Troop Three won by being first to finish striking camp and forming in marching order. In figuring the result the time and form counted for 25 per cent each.

The low reach feat, requiring the picking up at one swoop of three handkerchiefs stretched parallel about two feet apart, was as neat and as pretty a thing to watch as anything on the programme, and Private Buck, who won the contest, was roundly applauded for his clean work.

The double pursuit was a three sided scrimmage of a lively sort that caused much gasping by the women among the good sized crowd of spectators present. It was two men against one, both seeking to get the rosete of ribbons securely sewed on the right arm of the pursued. The rules of the game make this a difficult feat, as it must be done by a man riding on the left of the pursued, one reaching around behind him and plucking the ribbons.

The other pursuer acts as a guard or block on the right side of the rosetted one, the interference being similar to that in football. Some splendid tactics at wheeling and bucking were indulged in by the pursued in this contest, Corporal Stuart of Troop One coming off with first honors as he was the only one of the pursued whose rosette was not captured. The capture of Corporal Putam's rosette by Artificer Froment was especially applauded, as Froment achieved time the fall of 1902—won by Privates Bukkley and the fall of 1902—won b

BIG CROWD TO SEEN, Y. A. C. GAMES Boxes Sell for $100-College Athletes to Compete in Force.

The New York A. C. meet at Madison Square Garden on Tuesday night promises to be the greatest event of its kind ever held within the building, to judge from the entries received. That a large fashionable crowd will see the sports is certain, for already all the arena seats have been sold. More than a week ago the bayes were auctioned off and the most while those not so well situated were knocked down to bidders all the way down to $35 while those not so well situated were knocked down to bidders all the way down to $35. Only the second balcony and gallery remain for disposal to the general public, and even front balcony seats are now in demand at a brisk figure. A few of the boxes at both ends remain unsold.

The programme is made up of nineteen events, the majority being relay races. Three of these—a mile, two miles—are confined to the colleges, and in battle array will be seen mingled the colors of Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton. Cornell and Columbia. No less interesting will be the mile relay for local colleges and institutions, and New York University, College of the City of New York and Fordham, will test each other's speed.

A rattling good contest should result in the mile relay for high schools. Among the entries are Worcester High School, Ichampions of New England, and they are coming with the intention of taking the measure of everything in this vicinity. That the New Englanders will meet formen worthy of their steel is sure, for all the high school of Commerce, Pratt. "Poly Prep" Institute, De La Salle and several others.

A team of soldier boys from the First Regiment of Chicago is coming for the regimental relay, and it will be seen whether the men of warlike mien from the East or the West are fleetest of foot. The relay races for grammar and private schools, Indian League, Church League and at lettic clubs, have all attracted capital entries.

League and athletic clubs, have all attracted capital entries.

Of the han licap events, the 16-pound shot should prove interesting. Dick Sheldon of the New York A. C. and Harry LeMoyne of Harvard will meet at scratch for the third time this season. Each has a win to his credit and this will be the deciding affair. The games will begin sharp at 8 o'clock, and a band of 150 pieces will discourse some popular selections during the evening.

Trouble Over Power Boats May Be Settled.

There seems to be every probability of the There seems to be every probability of the trouble between the builders of automobiles and gas motors who are fostered by the American Automobile Association and the American Power Boat Association being settled at a meeting of the committee representing the two organizations, which is to be held this week.

It is probable that when the two associations get together it will be decided that the Automobile Association can hold whatever races it wants for boats owned by its club members under any rules that it may frame, but that for all open contests the rules of the Power Boat Association will be adopted by the automobilists. This will settle the whole trouble.

Charley Neary, Western Welterweight Champion, Whips Louis Long.

Charley Neary of Milwaukee, the welter-Charley Neary of Milwaukee, the welter-weight champion of the West, added to his record by whipping Louis Long of Oakland at Milwaukee before the Milwaukee A.C. on Friday night. The mill was for six rounds and Neary had things his own way from the beginning. He started out by jabbing Long in the first round with the left, and after that knocked Long down eleven times. In the sixth round Long was floored at least four times. The only punishment that Neary received during the battle was a bloody nose from a wild swing in the final round.

LONG RACE FOR SMALL BOATS.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON OFFERS A CUP FOR THE CONTEST.

Outside Course From Sandy Hook to Marblehead to Be Selled-Boats Limited to 40 Feet Over All-Crew of Four

With a Cook, but No Professionals. Sir Thomas Lipton has offered a handsome cup for a race for small boats over an outside course. The race is to be sailed at the end of June and will be managed by the Man-hasset Bay Yacht Club. The start will be made off Sandy Hook Lightship, and the course will be to Nantucket Shoals Lightship and then to Marblehead, a distance of 320

Thomas Fleming Day, who has been an enthusiastic small-boat sailor for many years, originated the idea, and he set to work at once to put his idea into execution. He talked with several owners of small boats, and they too became enthusiastic over the idea, and then, having got the yachtsmen interested and being assured of a good entry, he wrote to Sir Thomas Lipton and asked him if he would not offer a cup for the con-test. Sir Thomas replied at once that he would be pleased to do so, and now the conditions to govern the contest have been drawn up and it is probable that the contest will be one of the most interesting that have been sailed in these waters for many years. Mr. Day says: "One of the prime objects of the race is to give a man a chance to show off his knowledge of navigation. I stipulate that the race be confined to cruising boats, and boats of a type that will prove comfortable, safe and seaworthy, and that all fins and freaks be strictly barred. The length of the boats is limited to 40 feet over all. A boat over 40 feet length is not a small boat: she cannot be easily or safely handled by four amateurs, and would want to carry a professional crew; and we don't want pro-fessionals. By making the measurement 40 feet over all we get small boats and boats that are capable of being handled by four men. I would advise allowing a cook or a steward, as the crew will have its hands full on deck. No boat should be allowed to start without being properly provisioned and watered for at least ten days. It is not likely that the race will take that long, but to guard against accidents such as are liable to happen, the loss of spars, for instance, which might cause her to be drifted off shore, she should be stored for that time, at least. I admit that a tender is a nuisance; yet it is hardly safe to be without a boat of some sort. It is almost unnecessary to point out why there should be no restriction on light sails. It is in the use of such auxiliary canvas that the skill of the sailor is best shown. Rowing and towing should be permitted, as it not only gives the crew exercise, which is a great relief, but it is often necessary to use an oar to get a boat about in a seaway if the wind is slack. Making the measurement for racing the overall length will keep out long overhang boats and put all the craft entered on a fair basis. The allowance of 30 minutes to the foot is approximately the same as that allowed under the tables in common use. "The oourse I have chosen is one that peculiarly adapts itself to this purpose, as it is in the first place a safe one. The prevailing winds in the summer being from the south, it will enable the boats racing to constantly keep aport under the lee, so that in case they break down or the crews become disheartened, they can readily get inshore. At no time will they be more than fifty miles from land. Of course, if the wind happens to swing to the east ard for four or five days, as it frequently does east of Nantucket, it will upset all our calculations, but that is one of the gambles of the sea and must be made the best of. The chances are that the wind will be mostly southerly, if the right time of the summer is chosen for the event."

The conditions to govern the race are as follows:

Boats limited to 40 feet over all; any rig.

Crew limited to four; all amateurs. One professional may be carried as steward or cook. steward, as the crew will have its hands full on deck. No boat should be allowed to start

The conditions to govern the race are as follows:

1. Boats limited to 40 feet over all; any rig.
2. Crew limited to four; all amateurs. One professional may be carried as steward or cook, but must do no work on deck.
3. Boats to carry stores and water sufficient for ten days; not less than a gallon per day per man of water to be carried.
4. Each yacht must have a first class tender or dingey, not less than eight feet long on boats under 30 feet over all and ten feet long on boats over 30 feet over all.
5. No restrictions as to the light sails carried or used, but the lower canvas must be that used by the yacht for cruising.
6. All boats must carry anchors, chain or hawsers, lights and complete cruising outfits.
7. Towing by dingey and rowing allowed.
8. Before starting, captain of yach must satisfy committee that he has on board proper navigating instruments, charts, &c., and that he has a proper log book, which must be kept with hourly entries and handed in at completion of race. Extra prize to be offered for best kept log.
9. Committee to reserve the right to reject the entry of any boat that they do not consider a bona fide cruising craft or that is in their judgment, unseaworthy or otherwise unfit to make the race.
10. The measurement for racing shall be the over-all length of boat. An allowance of thirty minutes to the foot.

GOLF.

Good Conditions on the Nearby Links.

With but few exceptions all the links in the Metropolitan Golf Association territory are in playable condition, although hard with frost, and they will now be in commission, except when too soft in thawing weather, until the regular season opens about Easter week. The first of the open tournaments will be at the Country Club of Lakewood on April 21, 22 and 23. 22 and 23.

With the exception of the two or three days at Lakewood in Lincoln's Birthday week, the

It was the only competition at Dyker Meadow since Jan. 1, whereas last winter there were so many events that the members were given to boasting their course was the "Palm Beach of the North."

The public links at Van Cortlandt and Forest Park had many visitors, and also the Garden City links. Walter J. Travis, the amateur champion, who returned on Friday from Florida, was one of the members out at Garden City.

The time, 3 minutes 20 1-5 seconds, was exceedingly fast and beats the four men team record by more than a second. In the general run of events the colleges, were well represented, especially Yale, which was represented by a strong team. The Elis were well repaid for the trip by capturing the 70 yard handicap, one mile handicap and 600 yard novice, as well as minor points. The "go" went the limit and was interesting. The opening round was lively, Dixon doing the bulk of the work. In the next two rounds Summers seemed to have the better of the struggle at long range, but Dixon hammered his rival on the body with such effect that at the end of the fifth Summers was well winded. The last round was even. When the result was announced Dixon's admirers raised a howl, but the referce's verdict stood.

Dixon has been negotiating for a match with Ben Jordan, but the chances of the two meeting does not look bright. Jordan wants to fight Dixon at a certain club, which the negro does not care to do. He is satisfied to have the mill take place before that club giving the best purse. Dixon and Jordan met in this city several years ago and the Englishman won the fight in twenty-five rounds on points. SPANISH WAR VETERAN GAMES. JOHNSON TO FILE A PROTEST

TO BRING BASEBALL DATES DIS-PUTE TO A HEAD.

The dispute between the American and National Leagues over the conflict of open-ing dates here on April 14 will be brought to a head without delay. President John-son of the American League said yesterday that he would immediately send a formal protest to James A. Hart of Chicago, chairman of the joint schedule committee meet-ing, setting forth the fact that in scheduling the New York Nationals for Washington Park, Brooklyn, on April 14 the National League has either made a serious error or as committed a breach of good faith.

vestigation," said Johnson, "it will be shown that both committees agreed that the New York Nationals should play in Philadelphia on April 14, with the Boston Nationals in Brooklyn. It was the American League's wish that Farrell's club should have a clear field here on that day, so that it is both unfair and absurd to say that we consented to the make-up of the National League schedule as published. "Last year the New York Nationals opened at the Polo Grounds. They had no op-position as the Americans were away. It was only natural for us to demand an arrangement by which the New York Americans could have an opening this year all to themselves. When, therefore, the National League men want us to run up against conflict on April 14 in the shape of a New York-Brooklyn game at Washington Park, i s presumptuous, to say the least. "The American League will have the facts in the matter threshed out, and you can say that this date question will be made satis-

Baseball Outlook at Fordham. Seven of last year's team and twenty-six new men have responded to Capt. O'Brien's call for baseball candidates at Fordham College. Keene, captain of the '03 team, has been graduated, and Drescher, the left handed pitcher, has joined the Brooklyns. Their places will be hard to fill. McLane, catcher of last year's nine, is being developed as a pitcher by Coach Smith. This will give Plunkett, Dady and Gonzales a tryout for the backstop position. The latter is noted 240-pound Cuban football player. Rodriguez, Smith and Robertson, the first baseman, are also trying for pitcher. Guthrie and McNally are candidates for the initial bag. H. Hartman, Hoffey and Healey are trying for second. L. Hartman and Brambach are leading aspirants for shortstop. Capt. O'Brien will as usual hold down third. The outfield will be picked from Dunbar, Feeney, Craig, Murray, Brennan and Oliver. The cage work is under the direction of Coach Fred Smith. Many of the baseball magnates had left own yesterday, but Garry Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission, was here and had a long conference with Johnson last night. It is probable that the schedule row was the chief topic and that Johnson asked Herrmann to pull the National League into line. That the relations between the two leagues have become strained to the breaking point there can be no doubt. Bit-terness on both sides is apparent and charges factory to us or we will know the reason

The American League managers have received instructions to sign what few players remain outside the fold, which may mean that no chances will be taken. A majority of the magnates in each League do not want an open war, for the reason that they cannot stand another boom in players' salaries.

It was suggested to Johnson yesterday that the American League's opening game here take place on April 12 or 13 instead of the 14th, but the American League leader said no such move would be made.

The New York Americans, by the way, fully intend to play exhibition games on Sundays at Ridgewood this summer, as Herrmann's decision only covers the playing of championship games.

QUEER MIX-UP IN BASEBALL. How a Batter's Lusty Three Base Wallop Went to Waste.

Queer situations come to pass now and then in baseball which puzzle players, umpire and spectators alike for the moment and one of the queerest happened in the Eastern League in a game between Provione of those base runners inclined to do the unexpected on the bases, was at the bat for Brockton and Patsy Flaherty of the same team was on second base. Bannon cut loose with all his might at a straight ball, and the next instant the leather was shrieking in line flight toward centre field. The centre fielder was seen to put up his hands for the ball, which was going straight at him. The sun was in the centre fielder's eyes and he slightly misjudged the ball, which and he slightly misjudged the ball, which sailed just over his head. But as he had his hands all set for the whizzing pellet, some thought he had caught the ball. Bannon saw that the ball had not been caught and with head down, tore around the bases, kicking up clouds of dust en route. He was reposing on third base by the time the ball was fielded in.

The captain of the Providence team, as soon as things had quieted down a bit.

The Providence captain reiterated his contention, and again Hunt declared the man safe.

"but," protested the Providence man, "what is Flaherty doing on second base?"

The umpire looked, and, sure enough, there was Flaherty still on second base, and the man who had batted after him a base ahead of him—an absurd situation. Flaherty had thought the ball was caught, and had stuck to his base, and Bannon, without noticing him, in the excitement, had run past him. There was nothing for the umpire to do but call Bannon out.

The next time Bannon came to bat there was nobody on base, and a bleacherite

MUNROE AND FITZSIMMONS. Offer for the Pair to Meet at Philadelphia -Bob After Placke. is likely that Jack Munroe may be seen

It is likely that Jack Munroe may be seen in another contest before he has it out with Jim Jeffries next May unless the champion objects. There is talk of having Munroe meet Bob Fitzsimmons at Philadelphia in a six round bout some tinge next month. The large crowd which attended the encounter between Munroe and Tom Sharkey a week ago has convinced the promoters of that scrap that battles between big men, if conducted properly, will draw, and the same serap that battles between big men, if conducted properly, will draw, and the same folks are trying to bring Lauky Bob and the miner together.

Munroe and Sharkey drew over $9,000. Fitz knows this to be so and when the proposition was made to him yesterday to fight Muntoe at Philadelphia, he said:

"If the club will post $10,000 or guarantee that amount I will meet Munroe It's a cinch that if Sharkey and Munroe played to a $9,000 house we ought to have at least from $12,000 to $15,000. I am in fairly good shape now, with the exception of my feet, which are still sore. But I am taking fine care of myself and expect to be in real condition by the early part of April. If Munroe wants to meet me then, and the club puts up the money and Jeffries does not make a kick, I will take Munroe on."

GRIFFITH GETS PITCHER POWELL New York Americans Give Howell and $8,000 for Him.

Clark Griffith of the New York American League team effected an important deal in St. Louis yesterday. Word was received from him last night that he had given Harry Howell and $8,000 - a big sum for a hall player - to St. Louis for Pitcher Jack Powell. This enterprise on the part of the local American League club gives it the following strong pitching corps: Griffith, Chesbro, Powell, Hughes, Wolfe, Bliss and Puttmann. Powell has been in the front ranks as a pitcher ever since he joined the major League company in Cleveland. He has speed, a cool head in Cle veland. He has speed, a cool head and fine control, and it is believed is as good as ever President Hughes of St. Louis offered Powell a contract calling for $3,200 for the coming senson. Powell had been getting $4,500, and he refused to submit to a cut. Hodges would not recede from his original position. It is presumed that Griffith has met Powell's views as to salary and that the boilermaker assented to the transfer.
